

Children's Hospice International 2010 Joan & Kyle Kirby Scholarship Opportunity

Deadline for Submission: July 15, 2010

Background:

Since 1983, Children's Hospice International (CHI) – a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization – has pioneered in the field of pediatric hospice and palliative care. Through our education and outreach efforts, CHI promotes a continuum of interdisciplinary care for children and their families from the time of diagnosis of a life-threatening condition – with hope for cure – through bereavement support for the family should the child pass away. Toward that end, CHI developed the Program for All-Inclusive Coordinated Care for Children and their Families (ChiPACC), with the assistance from experts in pediatrics, hospice/palliative care, homecare, end-of-life care and the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services and funding through Congressional appropriations. ChiPACC allows children with life-threatening conditions to receive curative and hospice/palliative care at the same time, if appropriate. The ChiPACC program, currently being implemented in two states and developing in a growing number of states and the Department of Defense health system, among other innovative programs and international perspectives, will be featured at CHI's 21st World Congress.

CHI will be hosting its 21st World Congress, "The Future of Children's Hospice & Palliative Care: Completing the Circle of Care" at The L'Enfant Plaza Hotel, Washington, DC, USA. CHI's World Congresses provide education, training, and technical assistance to those who care for children with life-threatening conditions and their families, focusing on pediatric, curative, hospice and palliative care. CHI's World Congresses feature an array of experts in the field of pediatric hospice and palliative care from around the world.

CHI has some scholarship opportunities available to those who wish to attend, but whose organization is unable to fund the costs to attend.
